PROFILE

Lucius grew up studying drawing, painting and film. Whether it’s turning a doodle into a painting, a story into a film, or an idea into a fully functioning program, Lucius is a whiz at realizing creative work. Eager to grow, Lucius is passionate about engaging in both the learning and community side of web development. He eats Illustrator for breakfast, Javascript for lunch, goes for a jog, and rewards himself with heaping helping of CSS for dinner.

WORK

Dat Art Tho | organizer / artist *leadership, organization & branding

Organized an art show with 12 local visual artists at King Dusko. Coordinated every aspect of show - from curating and installing work, to booking a venue, food, and musical guest.

Ran PR campaign for show - created video, social media, flyers, communicated with local news sources.

The show was packed and the venue sold out of beer 5 times.

Philly Eyeworks | designer *quality & innovation

The techniques for hand coloring frames I developed created custom products that brought a $159 pair of glasses to be sold for $450.

Developed the palette of colors in use for their glasses.

Maintained consistent hand-colored inventory.

“Overalls & Aprons” | assistant editor, cameraman, animator *scale & complexity

Developed story from footage, created storyboards, branding, edited, created animations and shot video for feature length film.

Notated and categorized 500+ hours of documentary footage.

Learned Final Cut, professional lighting and videography techniques.

“The Shape of Vibes to Come” | editor, director, cameraman *crazy deadlines

In one month’s time I shot / edited a short film on the history of an instrument called the vibraphone. This required traveling all around the north East to interview and record 8 famous jazz musicians.
